Such differences might be caused by several factors, including changes in Canadian and worldwide economic and financial conditions (in particular interest and exchange rates and the prices of other financial instruments), market trends, new regulatory provisions, competition, changes in technology and the potential impact of conflicts and other international events.

The foregoing list of factors is not exhaustive. Before making any investment decision, investors and others relying on our forward-looking statements should carefully consider the foregoing factors and other factors. Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Results of Operations

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2023, the NBI SmartData U.S. Equity Fund's Investor Series units returned 12.89% compared to 14.16% for the Fund's benchmark, the S&P 500 Index (CAD). Unlike the benchmark, the Fund's performance is calculated after fees and expenses. Please see the Past Performance section for the the returns of all of the Fund's series, which may vary mainly because of fees and expenses.

Certain series of the Fund, as applicable, may make distributions at a rate determined by the manager. This rate may change from time to time. If the aggregate amount of distributions in such series exceeds the portion of net income and net realized capital gains allocated to such series, the excess will constitute a return of capital. The manager does not believe that the return of capital distributions made by such series of the Fund have a meaningful impact on the Fund's ability to implement its investment strategy or to fulfill its investment objective.

The Fund's net asset value dropped by 15.83% over the period, from $768.37 million as at December 31, 2022 to $646.74 million as at June 30, 2023.

The decline stemmed mainly from net redemptions by unitholders of the Fund and from withdrawals in the Fund by other NBI Funds.

Despite a roller coaster of a quarter, US equities ended the quarter on a high with most of the gains coming in the month of June. The markets were largely aided by moderating inflation and a resilient US economy in the face of high interest rates. These factors affected the sectors disproportionately with the IT sector leading most of the bull run. On the other hand, the quarter proved to be a sombre one for the Energy and the Utilities sectors.

Early in the quarter, US markets had to navigate their way through a tightening credit market fuelled by the collapse of certain regional banks in the US. However, the resolution of the US debt ceiling by the Congress and the temporary pause in rate hikes by the Fed in June provided most of the impetus for an upward run of the market.

Under these circumstances, the Fund underperformed its benchmark.

Among investment themes, signals within the Fundamental Mispricings pillar were challenged during the period. Conversely, signals within the Themes and Trends pillar contributed particularly strongly to relative returns followed by the suite of signals within High-Quality Business Models. signals within the Sentiment Analysis pillar remained relatively flat during the period.

The factors looking at Relative Valuation within the Fundamental Mispricings pillar hurt relative performance the most. These signals focus on a company's current valuation relative to peers in the market. Moreover, within Sentiment Analysis, signals gauging Investor Sentiment detracted considerably during the period. On the other hand, within Themes and Trends, Economic Linkages factors performed significantly well. These factors use machine learning and natural language processing techniques to identify underlying connections between stocks that the broader market may not fully recognize. Meanwhile, signals gauging Management Quality within the High-Quality Business Models pillar helped relative performance meaningfully.

Among sectors, holdings within the Health Care sector detracted the most from relative performance, with an overweight position within the Health Care Providers & Services industry being especially challenged. On the upside, holdings within the Financials sector contributed the most to excess returns, with an overweight position within the Banks industry contributing particularly strongly.

At an individual stock level, an underweight position in Meta Platforms Inc, held primarily due to views on High-Quality Business Models-related factors did not do well. Conversely, an overweight position in Palo Alto Networks Inc, held primarily due to views around High-Quality Business Models-related factors, performed well.

Recent Developments

There have been no material changes in the investment process/strategy during 1H23. However, our team has always maintained a robust research effort to develop new factors and data sources in order to maintain innovative sources of alpha.

The Equity Alpha team introduced several new signals and enhancements in the first half of 2023, that leverage machine learning techniques such as Natural Language Processing (NLP) as well as those that are based on different types of alternative data sources.

The team's new NLP-based signals deploy the latest techniques such as large language models and topic modelling to be able to extract insights from different bodies of text.

The first example we would like to highlight are signals we introduced within the Sentiment Analysis investment pillar. This suite of signals seeks to identify changes in sentiment within company regulatory filings and documents by using large language models to synthesize the context of the language used within the document. In addition to the NLP-based signals, the team also introduced a new signal that seeks to capture the level of attention stocks receive as a result of being mentioned in news articles and blog posts. We believe that companies that receive outsized attention in the media experience positive, but temporary price trends that ultimately revert over the longer term. This type of signal was included across most investment regions except for emerging markets.

We also introduced several new signals within the Themes and Trends pillar. The first signal introduced in all regions except Japan, leverages NLP and topic modelling techniques to identify economic linkages between companies based on their current descriptions. The second example we would like to share is the team's suite of signals that leverage word embedding techniques to capture the meanings of the words and language used within employer reviews in order to identify the economic linkages between companies mentioned.

We also introduced several new signals within our High-Quality Business Models pillar. The first example is the two suites of signals we introduced within the US that are both based on jobs posting data. The first signal focuses on the duration that jobs postings remain outstanding. We believe that companies that are appealing to prospective employees can fulfill jobs postings quicker and are therefore better positioned for growth over the long term. The second version focuses on the types of roles the company is trying to hire for as we believe that companies seeking to employ for high-in-demand roles will have to pay increased costs for the set of skills required and thus have their prospects for future growth be more challenged.

Looking ahead, we continue to believe that cheaper stocks should outpace more expensive ones and good momentum stocks should do better than poor momentum stocks. We also prefer names about which fundamental research analysts are becoming more positive and companies that are profitable, have sustainable earnings and use their capital to enhance shareholder value. As such, we anticipate remaining fully invested and expect that the value we may add over time will be due to stock selection, as opposed to size allocations.

On May 1, 2023, the Fund's independent review committee (the "IRC") was increased to four members when Stéphanie Raymond-Bougie was appointed as an IRC member.

⁽i) This information is derived from the Fund's Annual Audited Financial Statements and Interim Unaudited Financial Statements. The net assets per unit presented in the financial statements might differ from the net asset value calculated for fund pricing purposes. The differences are explained in the notes to the financial statements.

⁽²⁾ Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase or decrease from operations is based on the average number of units outstanding over the accounting period.

 $^{^{(9)}}$ Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both.

⁽²⁾ The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the accounting period. The trading expense ratio includes, if necessary, the trading expenses from its underlying funds, as described in Article 15.2 of Regulation 81-106.
